Steamship and Battleship Bulkheads Not

Worth as Much as They Seem.

On all first class passenger steamships and on all large warships a great percentage of the total cost is spent directly and indirectly on bulkheads or on what these bulkheads necessitate. No passenger would willingly make a voyage in a liner which was not known to have a cellular structure, and no government would think of building a battleship or cruiser without bulkheads. Yet it is a fact well known, at least to all seafaring men and shipbuilders, that these bulkheads, strong and perfect in themselves, are precisely as safe and efficient as the doors in them and not a whit more so.

The doors as at present constructed and operated are notoriously bad and dangerous. They have been the direct and known cause in the loss of many lives and many good ships and are doubtless chargeable with many more ships on the list of "missing and unaccounted for." It is astonishing to the expert to see the general public and even seafaring men so ready to accept the prevailing superstition about the safety of bulkheads. The best possible bulkheads without equally good doors, operated on a safe system, are about as good as a chain with a link missing. The history of marine disaster has taught us this if it has taught us anything, and yet we go on crossing the Atlantic in liners of much vaunted safety and bragging about invulnerable battleships, apparently with implicit confidence in this bulkhead fetish.

There should be as few doors as possible, and some very able experts contend that there should be none. On the other hand, most captains and chief engineers say they must have doors. Manifestly the only way out of the difficulty is to get safe doors, safely operated. The number of watertight doors and hatches on a first class battleship is over 850, and there are nearly 800 valves and gates connected with ventilating, draining and flooding the hull and involving the safety of the ship. It will therefore be seen that the systematic control and operation of these devices is a matter of no mean importance.

It takes about 110 men to look after these details alone in response to a collision alarm under the present conditions, and it is a matter of very grave doubt on the part of those best informed as to whether the supreme efforts of these 110 men can attend to doors, hatches and valves quickly enough to save the ship.—Cassier's Magazine.

Startled the Old Man.

The acoustics of Statuary hall in the capitol at Washington are a matter of wonder to tourists, and many are the tricks played upon them. An exchange tells of a youth employed in one of the departments who was visited by his father recently and took the old gentleman to Statuary hall. There is a block about the center of the circular hall where, if one stands and faces the north, a sound uttered from the doorway, 40 feet in the rear, seems to be immediately in front of this block. The youth managed to get his father on the block and, attracting his attention toward a statue in front, slipped to the rear and said: "What time have you? My watch has stopped." The father drew out his watch and was half through giving him the time when he looked around and saw that the son was nowhere to be seen. He was bewildered and looked like the man from beneath whose coat collar the magician has just extracted a live goose. Presently the son stepped forth from the pillar where he had been in hiding, but it required many explanations to restore the old gentleman's serenity.

Plaid Belts.

Belts of plaid leather, with plaid leather shopping bags to match, are seen in the large stores and bid fair to gain popularity. The favorite colors of the plaids are red, green, blue and yellow, and the leather is generally alligator or calfskin, cape goat, dogskin or seal. They are stylish and durable, and their reasonable price puts them within reach of all.

Her Success With Violets.

Mrs. Leavitt's violet farm in Connecticut is one of the institutions of the country, and it is a business started only within the last few years. Her violets are always sold for 3 or 4 cents apiece, and there is a steady demand for them the whole year through. Other women have tried violet raising and almost without exception have met with success.

A white china silk gown, trimmed with mousseline de soie frills, and with a narrow minx-border round the décolletage and on the frills of the armholes, is as pretty an evening dress as could be desired.

NOTICE OF DISTRIBUTION.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE Second Judicial District of the State of Nevada, Washoe county.

In the Matter of the Estate of James McDermott, Deceased.

Notice is hereby given that M. Hattan, the administrator of the estate of James McDermott, deceased, has filed in this Court his petition, praying for an order authorizing him to distribute the residue of the estate of James McDermott, deceased, among the persons entitled; and all persons interested in the said estate, are hereby notified to be and appear, before the District Court of the Second Judicial District of the State of Nevada, Washoe county, at the Court-room of said Court, in the City of Reno, on Saturday, the 18th day of June, 1898, at 10 o'clock A. M. of that day, being the time and place set for hearing said petition; then and there to show cause if any there be, why an order authorizing the said administrator to distribute the residue of said estate, among the heirs of said deceased, according to law, should not be granted.

The Trans-Mississippi and International Congress is composed of delegates from every State and Territory West of the Mississippi river. The idea of this exposition originated in that Congress at its session at Omaha in 1895, and the project has become a National enterprise and the National Commission has been organized and is in active service, there being one commissioner for each of the several departments of the Government. Most of the Trans-Mississippi States are well along in the way of gathering exhibits from their respective States and many of them have made liberal appropriations, while others are preparing exhibits through private enterprise.

Vice-President H. B. Maxson of Reno, has made arrangements whereby he can get Nevada exhibits shipped from any point in the State along the line of the O. & N. R. to Omaha and return, and he requests all persons who wish the interests of the State advertised to co-operate with the Exposition County Commissioner of his county, whose name is shown above, and prepare some product of his county and send it to the Exposition County Commissioner, R. R. from which place it will be sent to Omaha and exhibited for him, to the same point at the close of the exposition, free of expense for the exhibitor. Full information should accompany everything sent for exhibition. Before sending anything to the line of the railroad a full description should be given, the Exposition Commissioner of the county, who in turn will notify the Vice-President, who will notify him what action to take, otherwise there might be many duplications. Apply to your County Representative for further information, and don't let this opportunity of advertising the resources of Nevada be lost.

Resolved, That the people of the island of Cuba are and of right ought to be free and independent."

ALGER TO BE SCAPEGOAT.

It appears that the Administration is attempting to make a scapegoat of Russell A. Alger, Secretary of War. Incompetency has been apparent in the management of the campaign against Spain and as somebody has to be held responsible for the blunders made, it seems that General Alger is the man selected for the sacrifice. Administration papers, which are determined to shield the President, are severely criticizing the War Department and demanding that Secretary Alger resign to make room for a more competent man.

It has been noticed since the day war was declared that the Administration, Board of Strategy or whatever it was that directed military and naval affairs, had no fixed policy. Sampson's fleet was sent to Havana to maintain a "peaceful blockade" of the island of Cuba. He was not permitted to fire a shot at Morro Castle, and the Spaniards were given ample time to strengthen their fortifications at strategic points on the coast. The reconcentrados have been permitted to starve through one of the reasons given for declaring war against Spain was to relieve them from starvation. Tens of thousands of men, who volunteered to fight the Spaniards, have been concentrated in unhealthy swamps in Florida, and have only escaped pestilence by reason of the cool weather. Dewey's fleet which was ordered out of the neutral port of Hong Kong, conquered the Spanish at Manila, but whether by order of the Administration or not, is not yet known by the public. It is certain, however, that no arrangements were made to assist him in event of his meeting with reverses, for not a ship or a soldier was sent to his aid for three weeks after his great battle with the Spaniards.

It is patent to everybody that there has been gross incompetency at Washington in conducting the war with Spain, but whether Secretary Alger alone is incapable and should be made the scapegoat for all the mistakes made, will doubtless be made public later on. Fortunately Spain is financially crippled and cannot take advantage of the mistakes of the Administration nor prolong the war for any great length of time.

COINING THE SEIGNIORAGE.

The Senate has made several important amendments to the War Revenue bill passed by the House of Representatives. This bill, as passed by the House, provided for the issuance of $500,000,000 in interest-bearing bonds and the imposition of taxes upon many articles at present untaxed. The Senate Finance Committee proposed about 200 amendments to the bill, some of which are being modified and others of which are being adopted as reported by the Committee. One of the amendments which has been adopted provides for the coining of the seigniorage of the silver bullion owned by the Government. This seigniorage represents the difference between the price paid by the Government for the bullion and the value of that bullion when coined. It amounts to over $12,000,000,000, which will aid materially in defraying the expenses of the war. It can be coined at the mint without much extra expense, and while being coined it can be represented in the currency of the country by silver notes. It is now lying useless in the Treasury vaults, when one of the parties in Congress seems intent on increasing the bonded indebtedness of the country.

Does any reasonable person in this State object to the amendment to coin the silver seigniorage? Probably not one. Yet many persons who are supposed to be reasonable, will doubtless uphold the party that opposes the coining of the seigniorage.

A MONTANA WIND.

It blows some in Montana, "Monday a southeastern wind hurled tumble weeds and Russian thistles through the air at a fifty-mile gait, and the gate went, too. Many stores were drawn through the chimney, and the wind blew into the neck of a bottle and tore the bottom out. Nebraska wagon tracks passed over town by thousands. The strain on wire fences was so great that staples were drawn out on the north side of the post. The dirt blew away from around a post hole on the hillside and left the hole sticking out of the ground two feet. Off cellars tumbled and rolled up against College hill, and will be a total loss to the owners unless they cut them up and sell them for post holes."

CONDENSED WAR NEWS.

Rear Admiral Sampson decided Friday morning to block the narrow harbor entrance to Santiago de Cuba by sinking the collier Merrimac, loaded with coal, in the channel. Admiral Sampson called for volunteers to do the work and, notwithstanding it meant almost certain death, 400 men offered themselves. Lieutenant Hobson and six men were chosen and at 8 o'clock A. M. Friday the Merrimac under her own steam entered the channel under a terrible Spanish fire. The vessel was riddled with projectiles, but she succeeded in anchoring and swung across the stream. Lieutenant Hobson then set off an internal torpedo by electric attachment. An explosion followed and the Merrimac sank. Unable to return to the American fleet on account of the storm of shot and shell from the shore batteries the men rowed directly to the Spanish flagship and were taken on board. The Spanish Admiral under a flag of truce notified the American Admiral that the men were prisoners of war and would be treated with kindness until arrangements of exchange could be perfected.

The Navy Department received a cable from Sampson sent from Mole, Hayti, yesterday stating that the Merrimac had been sunk in the channel by Naval Constructor Hobson and six men who had acted gallantly. That Admiral Cervera had notified him that the men were prisoners on his ship and in recognition of their bravery they would be treated with the utmost kindness until exchanged as prisoners of war. Admiral Cervera reports two of the men slightly wounded. Sampson asks for immediate approval of exchange. He reports six of the Spanish squadron in Santiago harbor unable to avoid capture or destruction.

It is reported in Santiago de Cuba that U. S. troops have been landed at Punta Cardenas. Also that heavy cannonading was going on back of the city and it was understood among non-combatants that the insurgent and American forces were making a grand attack on the landward side. In the evening it was reported at Santiago that about eight miles off the coast, twenty American warships, five of which were cruisers, could be seen and it was believed that Sampson's and Schley's fleets had joined forces.

The War Department has chartered additional transports for the Cuban army of invasion.

The last cable binding Cuba to the outside world was cut yesterday afternoon by the gunboat Dolphin.

Spain hesitates in sending troops to Admiral Cervera or to Manila. The situation now appears that America is in a position to adopt tactics that will result disastrously to Spain at either place.

The United States gunboat Marietta which accompanied the Oregon arrived at Key West yesterday morning. She had kept a sharp lookout for Spanish vessels but had not seen any.

Admiral Sampson issued orders to the united fleet last evening just before sunset to move ten miles south and take station. It is believed that he intends serious business of some sort today (Sunday).

CURLING IN AMERICA.

A Scotch Game Zealously Cultivated by Scotchmen.

The game of curling has secured a high place among the winter sports in all parts of the country where there is heavy ice and where there are Scotchmen to teach the game to their American neighbors. There are about 60 curling clubs in the United States, and the Grand National Curling Club of America has a membership of many hundreds in all parts of the north and northwest, but still the game is spoken of as "Scotchland's own game."

The game is always played on ice covered lakes or rivers, except in England where it is frequently played under glass roofs by men whose white jackets, straw hats, floral decorations and general lack of Scotch style cause the real curlers to regard them with scorn.

The curlers who are members of the New York clubs have their contests on Van Cortlandt lake, and there is probably no class of sportsmen who go about a game so seriously as they. The object of the game is to plant the curling stone, which has a teakettle shape and weighs from 32 to 44 pounds, near the "tee," or center of a circle at a distance of 40 yards, and to guard it there.

Next to the stone the broom plays the most important part in the game of curling, because in the hands of a sweeper who is anxious to see the stone advance to the circle where it will count it is wielded dexterously, so that every particle of snow or ice may be removed from the stone's course. The "skips," or captains, of the opposing sides have charge of the sweeping departments, and the sweepers have the right to use their brooms after the stone has got beyond the line which marks the middle of the rink. The sweeping is always to a side or across the rink and not forward or backward, where the sweepings might obstruct the passage of a running stone.

Match games, called a bonspiel, are played by opposing teams of four each, and when it is at home curling is essentially democratic. It has been said that the lord of the manor, the clergyman and the village blacksmith may be seen on the same rink with the smith's "skip" shouting to the clergyman's "sweep," when he thinks a "sweep," or sweep, in front of the moving stone will help it along.

The enthusiastic curler sees and hears nothing but the speeding stones and the applause, the shouts of "Weel curled, weel!" and the boyish shouts which rise on the wintry air show that a youthful spirit may live in a mature body, particularly if it be that of a Scotch curler.

A BATTALION OF INFANTRY.

Assurances That It Will be Accepted From Nevada.

Representative Newlands, who has been endeavoring to get the War Department to give Nevada opportunity to furnish a battalion of infantry, telegraphs as follows:

WASHINGTON, June 3, 1898.
Governor Reinhold Sadler, Carson City Nevada:—Assurance has been given that a battalion of infantry will be accepted, but announcement will not be made until next week.

FRANCIS G. NEWLANDS.

This will give a few hundred more men from this State, who are not accustomed to horse back riding, opportunity to serve their country. There are several companies of militia in the state fairly well drilled and equipped, whose officers have expressed a desire to go to the front with their commands. There are also many applications from young men, who are not members of the National Guard, for enrollment. A battalion of infantry consisting of four companies of 84 men each will give 336 men opportunity to go to the front.

The Orphan's Home Investigation.

The investigation of the management of the Orphan's Home continued all day yesterday. During the proceedings on Friday evening a gun or two was exhibited and considerable of a rumour occurred. An officer happened to be present and he prevented any serious trouble. The investigation was immediately adjourned until yesterday. The two brothers of Miss Stock, the assistant matron were arrested, but shortly after dismissed. The evidence on the part of the prosecution was concluded and that on the part of the defense commenced in the afternoon.

The testimony of the defense has already shattered a number of the charges of Day, the complainant and it is believed that Superintendent Beebe will disprove every one of them. If Day has brought the charges through any malicious motive and which seriously reflect on the good name of a young woman and the honor of others and if they are disproved he should be reminded that his presence in Carson and in the State for that matter, is not agreeable to the people and he should be given every facility for his early departure to some other clime.

Too Late.

Special Orders No. 62, issued from Headquarters, Department of California, San Francisco, Cal., June 3, 1898, states that pursuant to telegraphic instructions from the Secretary of War, First Lieutenant George T. Bartlett, Third Artillery, will proceed immediately to Carson City, Nevada, for the purpose of mustering into the United States service the First Troop, Independent Nevada Cavalry. The order was issued by command of Major General Merriam and is signed by Edward Field, Major Second Artillery, Acting Assistant Adjutant General.

As the troop left Carson for Cheyenne on the morning of June 3rd to be mustered into the United States service, Lieutenant Bartlett was too late and unless other orders to the contrary are issued the Nevada Cavalry Troop will not be mustered into Uncle Sam's service until it arrives at Cheyenne. Somebody blundered as the boys were ordered to proceed East on June 3rd and transportation was furnished them by the Chief Quartermaster at San Francisco.

Dewey's Manila Victory.

For daring intrepidity, Admiral Dewey, "is entitled to first prize." He has set a glorious example for others to follow. But, there can be no speedy following, no further vigorous prosecution of the war with Spain, so long as the Wall Street "gold-bond cormorants" are permitted to dictate and impede the proper course of the Administration.

Those "Wall Street thrifts" are a greater menacing curse to the country, than Spain's entire fleet of battleships. Admiral Sampson's fleet and Commodore Schley's flying squadron, should immediately "shell Wall Street." Trust tools, Reckless and Hannibalism should be effectually silenced and every traitor to the country "rounded-up on sight."

The outrageous "war revenue bill," recently passed by the House of Representatives (in the interest of the Gold-Trust) calling for the issuance of $500,000,000 in government "interest bearing gold-bonds," is in strict keeping with "isms of Reed, Hanna & Co." The issuance of that astounding amount in gold-bonds would add nothing to the volume of independent money now in circulation. On the contrary, it would be a bold and criminal Administration steal of $500,000,000 from the people of these United States. "It is a very inconsistent measure, generally condemned."

The Senate Finance committee's patriotic amendments to the House revenue bill, striking out the $500,000,000 in gold-bonds and substituting the issuance in United States legal tender notes to the amount of $150,000,000 and the coinage of the silver seigniorage now lying dormant and useless in the United States Treasury is in accord with public sentiment, public need, public honor and public economic soundness. "The Government during the war should be its own banker."

Delicious Apple Dumplings.

Mix a paste with a piece of butter about as large as an egg melted in a teaspoonful of boiled mashed potato, to which is added half a cupful of boiled milk. Salt to taste and pour the mixed milk, potato and butter into flour enough to make a rather soft dough. Sprinkle over the dough a heaping teaspoonful of baking powder and work it into the mass as rapidly as possible. Cut the dough into pieces about the size of an after dinner coffee cup and roll each piece out separately. Fill each with quartered apples or with apple sauce seasoned to taste. Make the edges and corners fast, first wetting them as that they will adhere. Prick them several times with a fork, so the air may escape. Put them in a pan with paper lining and bake in a hot oven until brown. Serve with hard sauce or lemon sauce. Many persons eat dumplings with sugar and cream.—New York Ledger.

Four Little Curls.

Curls have come back and a new fashion of hairdressing with the first days of the spring. Not that the curls are very large—there are to be four of them this season—and not that the fashion of hairdressing has materially changed, but swiftdom and the style are very insistent on this point, and the maid or young matron who does not arrange her locks in the new mode will be called very much behind the times.

These curls are unique because they are put where curls are not very often seen, and until one becomes accustomed to the fashion he may not notice them. They are to go alongside of and just below the "psyche" or loose knot of hair that is so much the vogue now.—New York Herald.

Baked Eggs With Cheese.

Beat the whites of the eggs to a stiff froth. Mix grated cheese with the whites (allowing one tablespoonful of cheese to each egg). Salt to taste. Turn into a well buttered dish and drop the yolks whole an inch and a half apart on to it. Bake until the yolks are done to suit the individual taste.

Turquoise blue-evening gowns, combined with white, are given a most artistic touch by a bunch of deepest red roses. The belt worn with such a costume usually displays many glittering stones, rubies being the most noticeable.
